DESCRIZIONE

The European Research Council's (ERC) Public Engagement with Research Award 2020 is designed to recognize and celebrate ERC grantees who have demonstrated excellence in public engagement and outreach.

ERC grantees have a contractual obligation to communicate their project and many of them are outstanding science communicators.

The ERC would like to recognise those who engage with audiences outside their domain to communicate their research funded by the European Union.

For the purpose of this award the ERC understands "Public Engagement with Research" to mean the many ways that the public can be involved in the design, conduct or dissemination of the research process.

Researchers can choose to engage with the public for:

- Communication: to inform and inspire the public about research.
- Consultation: for projects that have engaged in two-way conversations about research and listened to public views.
- Collaboration: for research projects that have involved collaborating with the public, including co-creation, co-production of knowledge and citizen science.

Only one application can be submitted per ERC funded research project.
